

→ The first time I got scared was in Farida's house. Subrena Farida's older sister locked Farida in the balcony. Subrena locked the balcony opener I opened it and she locked it behind me, I went to the other open, I opened it. She was sneaking behind me and said boo I froze. Then I kind of peed in my pants. I fell on the floor. After I woke up I realised that I peed in my pants. Every one looked at me the lacked. I got mad at her and said because every one was looking at me. My mom came and said why are your pants wet She said I peed on my pants. She brought pants from home I wore them in the bathroom I came out my eyes turned red I was a angry or running after Subrena.
That was the time I got scared.

Today I woke up, so I looked out side, I was hoping for a pretty beautiful day but snow ~~was~~ <sup>was</sup> I said to myself Oh my gawd it's snowing!!
The snow made me feel that I could love the earth. Thank god that finally we are done with all that hot stuff. The other reason is that instead of me pants being on fire they are frozen. The snow made me think that if a terrible day turned into the stupidest day of my fourth grade year and I love Jr. Jr is so cute and awesome. The next reason is weather in denver can change very easy so be ready.
That is what the first snow storm was when I was in fourth grade made me feel and what it made me think.

end

If I could have eney two super powers I would have the abelcty of super speed and super strength. The begining reason I would wont to have those two assom super powers is becquse if someone wanted to race you for something you like and something they like you would when because you have super speed. The final reason I would choose super speed as a power is because if there is a crime you can solv it before the police can you can solv the problem firste because you got there faster.

The starting reason I would want to have super strength is because if you were in a football game you would run over them and score a touch down because you are so strong. The second reason I would choose to have super strength is that when you fight crime you could punch them once and they well be knocked out so you can call the police. The final statememt I have to say is also if you are a boxer you can knock someone out in one second. Those are the super powers that I would want to have
